Competition Gel Pro Selection

Sweden's most famous liniment, used on humans and animals for over 50 years. Radital Competition Gel is an effective, dual-action liniment that locally increases the blood flow, reduces recovery time and provides relief for occasional pain. On horses, it has a good effect on the wind galls.

Liniment has been used for thousands of years to prevent and relieve discomfort in muscles, tendons and joints. RADITAL is considered the most effective liniment. At first it cools and then switches to long even heat. Widely used in elite sport, general exercising and by physiotherapists, masseurs and in elderly care.

RADITAL has a very strong position on the horse market especially for trotting and racehorses.

Usage

Soft and smooth muscle is the best insurance against damage and wear. Before training, treatment with liniment is an excellent way to prepare and warm up muscles before physical training. After training apply Radital Competition Gel for a night of prolonged warmth which helps the muscles to recover quickly.

Radital Competition Gel is often used in generalized muscular pain and fatigue, where the soothing warmth creates relaxation and wellbeing.

NOTE! Be careful when bandaging on animals. Improper use may cause scorch.
